

A "teja mani" dwelling, very typical in both the Dom. Rep. and Haiti. Notice how the earth has washed away from the weave.

View of the classroom-dining room of the school in Las Latas de Farran. The walls are of rammed earth and the roof is of sisal-cement sheets.