

Shows the joint between two modular forms with the metal tube keeping them in line. The door frame occupies exactly one form as is the case with a window frame. Notice the bracing of the door frame.

An interior view of the wood structure that supports the roof.